

Installer Briefing: Key Updates

Mission Solar Now Approved on Skylight AVL — Soligent Inventory Available Now

Skylight has rolled out several meaningful enhancements to its Solar Lease Program and Approved Vendor List — giving installers more financing approvals, better storage economics, and stronger domestic content equipment flexibility.

Skylight Program Highlights

- Mission Solar Energy Added to Skylight's Approved Vendor List
- Minimum homeowner approval threshold lowered to 660+ FICO (Experian)
- Improved battery pricing for stronger solar + storage proposals
- Only 3 kW minimum solar required for battery attachment

Newly Approved Mission Solar Module

This gives installers another valuable domestic content-aligned module option — and importantly, Soligent is now stocking Mission Solar inventory and ready to support immediate deployment on qualified Skylight projects.

Skylight Continues to Move Projects Fast

- Submittals reviewed in under 48 hours
- Milestone funding within 48 hours of approval
- Installer support from submission through funding

Why This Matters

With expanded homeowner eligibility, easier battery attachment, and Mission Solar now approved and available through Soligent, installers have a much stronger path to moving residential lease projects from signed contract to funded installation faster.

SolarEdge: LAST CHANCE TO LOCK IN 40%+ ITC VALUE ON FUTURE C&I PROJECTS

SolarEdge has opened a limited 5% Safe Harbor ordering window, giving commercial installers a time-sensitive opportunity to preserve enhanced federal tax credit benefits on qualifying C&I projects through 2030. Standard Safe Harbor orders must be submitted by May 15, 2026, with SolarEdge committing to ship by June 20 to help installers complete required possession and title transfer ahead of the July 4 deadline.

Installers needing additional time may place Expedited Safe Harbor orders through May 31, 2026, subject to a 5% expedite fee, with all qualifying inventory still required to complete possession and title transfer on or before July 4.

Inventory is limited, and this window is expected to close quickly for installers looking to secure future commercial pipeline opportunities.

To reserve inventory, contact C&I Sales Manager Marc Adcock at marc.adcock@soligent.net or 856.701.9736.
